

K. Theissen photos from Spring 2009 field exercise

Students working at the top of the cascade aeration system where pumped water emerges from within the closed landfill.

Student making measurements at the top of the cascade aeration system.

K. Theissen photos from Spring 2009 field exercise

Students making measurements in a lined sedimentation pond at the base of the cascade aeration system.

Student bailing out a well in the closed landfill for water sampling.

K. Theissen photos from Spring 2009 field exercise

Students making onsite measurements of Pb, Hg, and phosphate from water samples.

Students deploying a grab sampler to collect surface sediments from the sedimentation pond.