

Workshop for Economics Faculty at Community Colleges

On Issues in Teaching and Learning Principles of Economics Courses

- The workshop will be an economics issues-oriented format looking at specific issues in teaching economics that the workshop participants have. The issues will include the most challenging or most concerned issues in teaching principles of economics courses. It is opportunity for you think about, discuss, and formulate a plan for a teaching activity on how to deal with your issues.
- The workshop is supported by NSF Project Economics at Community Colleges: <http://serc.carleton.edu/econ/2yc/index.html>. Additional information about the workshop and teaching ideas can be found at the website.
- There will be an opportunity for the participants to submit follow-up teaching activity to the NSF Project web site and receive $100 stipend
