

Big Ideas of Thursday pm

- Textbooks will not go away but their form may change.
- Learning resources are only part of the equation; teachers/students are the rest.
- Textbooks have and will play multiple roles: scaffold, organizing structure, authoritative source
- Textbook is becoming a multimedia learning environment
- Textbook shortened to a Guidebook to access and organize learning resources
- Modularity/Adaptability/Customizable/Interactivity
- New business models will be needed: faculty, students and publishers will play different roles than they do now in the creation of resources.
